Types of Inverters. There are several types of inverters that might be installed as part of a solar system. In a large-scale utility plant or mid-scale community solar project, every solar panel might be attached to a single central inverter. String inverters connect a set of panels--a string--to one inverter. That inverter converts the power produced by the entire string to AC.

The main difference with energy storage inverters is that they are capable of two-way power conversion - from DC to AC, and vice versa. It's this switch between currents that enables energy storage inverters to store energy, as the name implies. In a regular PV inverter system, any excess power that you do not consume is fed back to the grid.
